1. Overview of the Requirements

The main objective of this Request for Proposals (RFP) is to determine which organization(s) have the ability, vision, and commitment to successfully implement and manage a Co-op Capital entrepreneurial pilot project.

This RFP is intended for existing and established organizations serving Albuquerque, New Mexico interested in addressing economic challenges in their communities in new and innovative ways.

Co-op Capital is a relationship-based, micro-lending program funded and supported by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and Nusenda Credit Union, and is part of the City Alive collective impact initiative. Its aim is to widen access to affordable, equitable, and culturally adept financial opportunities for lower-income entrepreneurs and entrepreneurs of color in Albuquerque.

Implementation and expansion of the Co-op Capital program is crucial if we wish to see entrepreneurs in our city: a) create new jobs, and b) sustain investment in Albuquerque. The Co-op Capital model provides a much-needed, fresh perspective on how alternative lending could be designed and become a widely accessed source of financing for entrepreneurs looking to start new businesses or expand existing ones.

2. Description of Co-op Capital: Program Specifics

Access to capital is one of the greatest barriers to starting and growing businesses. The Co-op Capital program is challenging how businesses and entrepreneurs can access and receive financial assistance.

While character-based, community-circle micro-lending is not new to the field of financing, especially internationally, the foresight to offer these loans through partner organizations versus a banking institution is largely untried in the United States. Co-op Capital flips the traditional model of a borrower applying for a loan through a financial institution. Instead, a partner organization, such as a nonprofit, community organization or educational institution, applies for this Co-op Capital funding and, in turn, sponsors a loan on behalf of one of their member affiliates.

This micro-loan program does not rely on the traditional “5 Cs of Credit” (character, capacity, capital, collateral, conditions), but on trusted relationships between partner organizations who receive this funding and potential borrowers in the communities they serve.

This program has been called the “alternative to the alternatives” as it does not require credit, collateral, or status; and shifts the decision-making authority to community organizations, nonprofits, and institutions based on character, goals, and determination so entrepreneurs can build businesses that succeed. It also fills a gap – allowing access to capital to those who may not qualify under other lenders’ criteria; it also offers another avenue besides predatory lenders.

The partner organization (applicant) sponsors a low-interest loan through its Nusenda Credit Union deposit account; Nusenda in turn provides the origination, servicing, and credit reporting.

Partner organizations decide whether to make the loan based on their own criteria and relationship with a prospective borrower. Credit reports from potential borrowers are not required; instead, the relationship between the partner organization and the borrower drives the loan approval process. Partner organizations work with Nusenda to provide comprehensive supports and communication with borrowers to ensure repayment. Additionally, those organizations that make timely payments and follow the terms of their agreements could also see positive impact on their credit reports.

We anticipate that Co-op Capital loans will accelerate progress towards multiple results, including supporting entrepreneurs to start and expand existing businesses. We also anticipate that this program will accelerate and showcase your organization’s commitment to community and interest toward the common good in the areas you serve.

Organizations funded under this RFP will conduct the following:

- Identify and recruit prospective borrowers who are otherwise unable to access affordable capital.
- Evaluate prospective borrower loan requests based on their criteria, prior relationships, and other measures of creditworthiness (income, business plan, etc.) to determine program eligibility.
- Determine the appropriate size of loan given to prospective borrowers based on their needs and likeliness to successfully repay the loan.
- Provide tailored support to prospective borrowers and work with Nusenda to optimize a successful repayment plan.
- A 10% collateral for all loans they facilitate to secure the loans.
- Provide or link borrowers to financial literacy class(es) to support repayment. Nusenda Foundation can offer technical assistance to meet this required service.

3. Non-Negotiable Components of Co-op Capital

Co-op Capital under this program is subject to the following non-negotiable components:

- Grantee organizations must become a Select Employer Group (SEG) and member of Nusenda Credit Union.
- Grantee organizations must provide 10% of the collateral for all loans they facilitate as collateral. In the event of delinquencies, the Grantee Organization’s collateral is the first funding to be utilized.
- Nusenda will charge 5% APR interest on the loans*. Grantees do not earn any of the 5% interest, but there are multiple options that organizations can pursue to earn revenue. For example, organizations could charge an application fee, a one-time service fee based on the loan amount, or a “pay it forward” fee. Organizations are not required to charge any additional fees;
- Loan payments must begin within 90 days after loan approval*;
- Loans under this program cannot exceed $10,000*;
- Repayment terms range from 12 to 180 months. Loan repayment terms do not need to be consistent amongst borrowers*; and
- Borrowers must receive financial education. If requested, the Nusenda Foundation will work with your organization to develop a financial education plan and provide curriculum.

See Appendix B: Co-op Capital FAQ for more details.
4. Grantee Requirements

Organizations that receive funding from the Co-op Capital Program will be required to engage in the following activities:

Planning Phase: Must be completed prior to approving Co-op Capital loans. The planning phase will take between three and six months. During the planning phase, grantees will work with contracted Nusenda Foundation Project Managers to establish the loan criteria, loan approval process, application, data collection system and more. See Appendix C: What to Expect for more details.

Borrower Management: Grantee will approve loans and engage in ongoing borrower management efforts aimed at supporting borrowers to successfully repay their loans and build their credit.

Quarterly Reporting: For the purpose of evaluating this micro-lending program, grantee organizations are required to collect demographic and social outcome data for borrowers, and to report on that data on a quarterly basis. The Nusenda Foundation will provide a reporting template to grantee organizations that includes data to be reported to the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and other funders supporting this initiative.

Peer-to-Peer Learning Advisory: Grantee organizations are required to participate in no less than three peer-to-peer learning activities with other grantee organizations also participating in Co-op Capital. The intention of the peer-to-peer learning activities is to identify and share promising practices. Peer-to-peer learning activities may take place in person, via webinar, or via teleconference.

Q: What is Co-op Capital?

A: Co-op Capital is a relationship-based, micro-lending program funded and supported by the W.K. Kellogg Foundation and Nusenda Credit Union, and is part of the City Alive collective impact initiative. Its aim is to widen access to affordable, accessible, and culturally adept financial opportunities for lower-income entrepreneurs and entrepreneurs of color in Albuquerque.

While character-based, community-circle micro-lending is not new to the field of financing, especially internationally, the foresight to offer these loans through partner organizations versus a banking institution is largely untried in the United States. Instead, a partner organization, such as a nonprofit, community organization or educational institution, applies for this Co-op Capital funding and, in turn, sponsors a loan on behalf of one of their member affiliates.

This micro-loan program does not rely on the traditional “5 Cs of Credit” (character, capacity, capital, collateral, conditions), but on trusted relationships between partner organizations who receive this funding and potential borrowers in the communities they serve.

This program has been called the “alternative to the alternatives” as it does not require credit, collateral, or status; and shifts the decision-making authority to community organizations, nonprofits, and institutions based on character, goals, and determination so entrepreneurs can build businesses that succeed. It also fills a gap – allowing access to capital to those who may not qualify under other lenders’ criteria; it also offers another avenue besides predatory lenders.

The partner organization (applicant) sponsors a low-interest loan through its Nusenda Credit Union deposit account; Nusenda in turn provides the origination, servicing, and credit reporting.

Partner organizations decide whether to make the loan based on their own criteria and relationship with a prospective borrower. Credit reports from potential borrowers are not required; instead, the relationship between the partner organization and the borrower drives the loan approval process. Partner organizations work with Nusenda to provide comprehensive supports and communication with borrowers to ensure repayment. Additionally, those organizations that make timely payments and follow the terms of their agreements could also see positive impact on their credit reports.
Q: Does my organization need to have prior lending experience to become a Co-op Capital partner?
A: While your organization does not need to have prior lending experience, it does need to have trusted relationships with potential borrowers in the communities it serves. Once approved for the program, your organization will make its own loan approval decisions based on knowledge of the potential borrower. Nusenda Credit Union will provide the origination, servicing, and credit reporting; and will work with organizations to help borrowers successfully repay their loans.

Q: If we wanted to work with another organization, is partnering possible?
A: Partnerships with other organizations are encouraged as a way to provide additional borrower support, and to add to organization’s ability to fulfill program requirements.

Q: Will my organization get help in developing our Co-op Capital program?
A: This program is committed to supporting organizational partners so they can successfully implement Co-op Capital. At the beginning of the process, organizations will engage in a comprehensive planning process. At this time, organizations will develop loan program criteria, decide on loan approval processes, establish data collection systems, and develop a loan application, and more. Ongoing support and learning opportunities will also be available.

Q: Do organizations need to provide financial education to borrowers?
A: The program requires borrowers to receive financial education. Either the Co-op Capital team can help develop a plan with you, or can provide customized financial education to meet specific needs.

Q: What is the Co-op Capital loan interest rate?
A: Nusenda charges a non-negotiable 5% APR interest on all Co-op Capital loans.*

Q: Do partner organizations earn any of that interest?
A: Partner organizations do not receive any of the 5% interest rate.

Q: Can partner organizations earn revenue through the Co-op Capital program to offset implementation costs?
A: There are multiple options that organizations can pursue to earn revenue. For example, organizations could charge an application fee, a one-time service fee based on the loan amount, or a “pay it forward” fee. Organizations are not required to charge any additional fees.

Q: Do partner organizations need to provide collateral for these loans?
A: Partner organizations are required to provide 10% collateral. Collateral is also provided by Co-op Capital partners Nusenda Credit Union (20%), and by private foundations such as the W.K. Kellogg Foundation (70%). Collateral funds will be stored in three separate accounts; all collateralizing loan funds are frozen, meaning that partner organizations cannot withdraw funds until all loans have been repaid.

Q: Do partner organizations earn interest on the 10% collateral?
A: The account will accrue interest proportionate to Nusenda’s current savings account rates. Organizations will not earn interest on matching collateral provided by Nusenda, W.K. Kellogg
Q: What are the repayment terms?
A: Each community partner can determine the loan terms offered to borrowers, ranging from 12 to 180 months. Loan repayment terms do not need to be consistent among borrowers*.

Q: Do Co-op Capital partner organizations need to become a Nusenda SEG (Select Employer Group) member?
A: Yes, because Co-op Capital is a product/service available only to Nusenda Credit Union members. Becoming a SEG member also enables partner organizations to provide access to affordable financial services at no obligation or cost.

Q: Does a borrower need to become a Nusenda Credit Union member?
A: Yes, because funds must be disbursed to a Nusenda account.

Q: If a borrower doesn’t pay back the loan, how is payment collected?
A: All defaults are charged to the partner organization first, Nusenda Credit Union second, and the W.K. Kellogg Foundation last. Per agreed upon terms and after prior notice, default payments will be withdrawn from organizations’ accounts that hold the 10% collateral.

Q: Does Nusenda report payments to credit bureaus?
A: Yes, borrowers that make timely payments and follow the terms of their agreements could also see positive impact on their credit reports.

Q: What happens if a borrower is located in a place that doesn’t have a Nusenda Credit Union branch?
A: Borrower can access funds via shared branching, co-op ATMs, foreign ATMs (may have associated fees), bonded checks, or Nusenda’s Internet Banking and Mobile Banking apps.

Q: When is borrowers’ first payment due?
A: Borrowers have up to 90 days until the first payment is due. Payments cannot be deferred for longer than 90 days.

Q: Are borrowers required to have a Social Security Number?
A: No. An Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN) can be used in lieu of a Social Security Number.

*For example, you could pay as little as $87.76 per month for a $2,000 loan, 5.00% Annual Percentage Rate for 24 months. APR effective date of loan inception; the program could change per the conditions of each Memorandum of Understanding (MOU).
